

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains caused by weakness and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness. If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle-wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy of known composition, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by old Dr. Pierce over forty years ago, much imitated but never equaled. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

CAMP CASSADAGA.

In writing a little testimonial of Col. VanHorn, of Kansas City, last week your correspondent neglected to state that he was an honored member of our National Congress for a number of years.

On the Cassadaga register are found the names of H. W. Wart and Miss M. L. Ravold Greenville, Ill.; Everett Fox, Edinburg, Ind.; E. D. Bartlett and wife, St. Paul, Minn.; W. W. Lee and wife, Troy, N. Y.; Mrs. Kate Adams, New York, N. Y.; Jean Wallace Butler, manufacturing chemist, Chicago, Ill.; D. T. Shattuck, Independence, Iowa; W. W. Wheeler, Oakfield, Wis.; New faces are seen at every turn, and rooms in cottages are being filled, but there is still room for more guests at the Cassadaga and Brigham Hall, and three cottages for rent upon the grounds.

Visitors from near by places have been daily attracted here. The rose garden is already getting over the effects of the late "cool reception" given it and gives promise of bursting buds in the near future.

Preparations for opening day have been very active under the direction of Mrs. Maynard Bond, of Lake Helen, who with the aid of Mrs. Alger, Mrs. Bach, Earle Slater, and President Hilligoss (who seldom allows himself to be left out of anything that means work for the camp) have decorated the platform and auditorium very tastefully. The flags of all nations have a fair showing with "old glory" as leader. Potted plants and vines a large vase presented to the society here by Mrs. J. H. R. Matteson, of Buffalo, has a beautiful vine trailing down its side. The large picture in the center of a county scene with such soft tints in sky and landscape as to rest the eyes, is something to make one think of home and country scenes, which at the sight of it, with life-like coloring is a large picture of the lake James D. Palmer, one who worked with a will with hands unused to such labor, to help bring about the building up of this camp. His purse was also opened when occasion required. At the left the picture of Frank E. Bond, also promoted to a fairer country, who in financial straits tided the veterans of the camp over the rough places. He was true to its interests to the last. Though immersed in business and perhaps not as much in touch with the spiritualistic belief as some less busy ones, he so honored his father's and mother's religion that he kept in touch with the needs of this place and helped to bridge over rough places. Above the center picture is a fine picture of President Hilligoss, presented to the ladies Aid by his wife. It is like a sentinel keeping guard. The whole effect is charming.

The morning session was a symposium, and several took part in the exercises. The first song was "My country, 'tis of thee." The choir consists of Mr. John Ballard, of Vermont, leader; Mrs. Ballard, pianist; Mrs. C. P. Pratt, of Massachusetts; Dr. Critchley, of New Hampshire; Miss VanHorn, of Ohio, Earle Slater and Mrs. Frank Johnson, of Lake Helen. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Clark Kelsey, of Rochester, N. Y.; Dr. Hilligoss then welcomed the friends to the fifteenth annual meeting of the Southern Cassadaga. In most touching words he referred to our arisen workers, and emphasized the need of union in our work. His words were full of hope for the future and appreciation of past victories. He then called upon E. W. Bond, vice president, who has served as president several years. Mr. Bond spoke of the past and the present and of that which this association represents. Mr. A. F. Hubbard, president Queen City Park, Vermont, spoke of the cause and its possibilities. Mrs. Twing, of New York, said "If this is not a half-way house to heaven let us make it one." Mrs. Armstrong, of New York, gave a graphic description of a lost vessel. Its crew, without food or water, that when at last they sighted a sail pleaded for water, and were astonished by the response "Let down your buckets where you are," for they had drifted to the broad mouth of the Amazon. She applied it to our lives—always pure water if we seek it. Mrs. A. D. Morrell, of Michigan, responded to the introduction in most fitting words. Dr. Gould, of Vermont, told of those he saw unseen to others, the gift of seeing visions belongs to every generation. J. Clegg Wright ended his short tribute with, "Do not forget your dead." W. W. Lee, one of the officers of the Lake Pleasant, Mass., Association, declined to make a speech but said, "I am not a speech maker. I am a worker." B. Rhoades, president of Central New York Association, was introduced but he like Mr. Lee, was just a worker. Mrs. J. D. Bartholomew pronounced the benediction.

The afternoon session was largely attended. Mrs. A. D. Morrell was the speaker of the afternoon. It is her third engagement here, and she is a great favorite. Every word is so perfectly enunciated, every sentence so fully rounded out, every thought so clear cut, and free from unnecessary embellishment, that even those afflicted with deafness, in quite a degree, can follow her. Her subject was "The outlook of the old and new faiths," and it was handled, as are all her subjects, with a sense of truthfulness and fearlessness that has always characterized her work. At the close of her address, after a selection by the choir, she gave messages to quite a number, which were recognized as facts.

The evening session at the pavilion was largely attended. Our people are an untiring people, when mental food is to be dealt out. The speaker was Rev. Oscar A. Edgerley, of Lynn, Mass., who has a national reputation as an exponent of our gospel. Mr. Edgerley has visited us in the past, and was warmly welcomed. His subject "Modern heresies and their application to present development," showed that the ruling intelligence was optimistic, and sure that there was a meaning for good in all. Spiritualism, New Thought, Mental Science, Christian Science and Theosophy.

The conclusion to be drawn from the argument of the speaker would indicate that we are to look for the conservation of the good as found in all sects and all creeds, fearlessly eliminating non-essentials and commending for universal use the principles of eternal truth as revealed in nature.

The song by the choir, "Father, Father, pilot me," seemed a fitting harmony for the close of a full days service, emphasized by a benediction by Mrs. Morrell.

PERSONALS.

At the Cassadaga: W. Wait and Miss F. L. Ravold, Greenville, Ill.; Everett Fox, Edinburg, Ind.; E. D. Bartlett and wife, St. Paul, Minn.; W. W. Lee and wife, Troy, N. Y.; Mrs. Kate Adams, New York, N. Y.; Jean Wallace Butler, Manufacturing Chemist, Chicago; D. P. Shattuck, Independence, Iowa; W. W. Wheeler, Oakfield, Wis.

At Hotel Brigham: O. C. Burke and wife, Grand Rapids, Mich.; George H. Brown and wife, Robert Orr, Mrs. Abbie T. White, all of South Lancaster, Mass.; Mrs. John Gibbs, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. Maria C. Fogg, Manchester, N. H.

Frank Johnson is just enclosing a fine large house for G. W. Miller, of Big Run, Pa. He has been here two seasons previous to this, and has become charmed with the climate and much interested in the camp. He and his wife have made many good friends here. Mr. Johnson is also about to erect a house for John Ballard, of Vermont, who came last winter for the first time. Mrs. Ballard has improved enough in health for them to desire a sunny Southern home.

(BY MISS MARY BUZZELL.)

(This is the "blessed trinity" of Lake, Camp, Life, that Camp Cassadaga offers.)

I

A shimmering gem, enshrined in green,
Reflecting in its misty sheen
The roses of the morning skies
And sunset's iridescent dyes.
Palmettos fringe in double row
Its sandy shores, above, below;
Ancient pines, in stately line,
Pencil the sky with dark design.
And here the western shore rolls high
Its pine clad knolls to meet the sky.

II

Vine clad villas cluster there
With restful and inviting air.
Roses bow in sweetest praise
Of sunny skies and balmy days.
Friendliness and pleasant cheer
Meet all folk who gather here.
High thought and happy life unite
To lend the camp a true delight.
Here all retain the heart of youth—
The inner joy of sacred truth.

III

The out-door life, in sunny air,
Glad simple living, free of care,
That feels each fair, fresh morning
blest,
And breathes its beauty with a zest
With just enough of work and play,
Of books and friends to fill each day
Of talks and walks beneath blue
Skies—
All this, the path where reason lies;
A path, in helpful kindness trod
That leads thru nature on to God.
